Lemon Grove's Two New Fire Trucks to Arrive Next Month

Department to Be Ready to Operate Soon

Lemon Grove's new fire department will be ready for business in less than 60 days. The two new pumper trucks will arrive sometime in April. Delivery of the trucks has been delayed due to government restrictions on materials, but the Mack Truck Co., in Los Angeles, has informed Chairman J. Morris Mulkey of the Fire District, that the 500 gallon pumper will be shipped about April 10, and that the 1,000 gallon pumper truck will arrive shortly after.

The district has purchased a small pickup truck for the chief and his staff to use in making inspections, checking fire hydrants and doing other odd jobs required of them.

The remodeling of the building on Central just off Imperial is nearing completion, and will be ready to receive the fire fighting equipment when it arrives next month.

The two pumper trucks were purchased from the Mack Truck Co., at a cost of $21,000, and the building, purchased from the First Baptist Church, is costing the district less than $10,000, completely remodeled into a modern fire station.

Hi, Neighbor by Mac Rex Graham

We have good news for you coffee drinkers this week.

Tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday Miss Victoria Smith, the Sunbeam lady, will be at the Lemon Grove Hardware to serve you coffee and raisin toast through both days.

In my estimation, Miss Smith has a very easy job, for what could be nicer than making coffee in a Sunbeam Coffee-master.

Pretty soft making toast, too, in a Sunbeam Toaster. Set your control, drop the bread in, click click, and your toast comes out just as you like it.

The other person's grass always looks greener but I'd change jobs with Victoria Smith any day.

And ladies—be sure to send your husband up to the Lemon Grove Hardware Friday afternoon and anytime Saturday.

Can you imagine any one giving free shaves to the gentlemen. That's what Kenny Bonatus, the Sunbeam Shavemaster, will be doing, and giving a real demonstration at the same time.

For any of you fellows too old to stand in line, Jack Sanders has promised to furnish a nice comfortable seat while you wait your turn.

That reminds me. The charming secretary of the Chamber of Commerce is out gathering up chairs so there will be seats for everyone attending the retail merchants' meeting at the C of C office Friday night.

Roy Lane will be chairman of the meeting, and we'll venture there will be ideas bustin' out all over for making Lemon Grove the most popular trading place in the valley.

Things are sure lookin' up for Lemon Grove shoppers—Evelyn Wigton's Apparel Shop is getting in new Easter togs and accessories every day.

Lane's Mens Wear has a store full of Spring wear for the laboring man as well as the white collar worker. A new line of shoes will be here any day, now.

All of the rest of the stores are ready for you with new stocks—Carol Ann's Shop, Cressy's Dry Goods, Petite Shop, Mode O' Day, Bella's Shoe Shop.

Both of the Drug Stores are ready for the Easter trade and can furnish you anything that you can find in a city store.

Trade in Lemon Grove and keep your dollars at home.

If you want to make the Review boss happy, tell them you saw it advertised in the Review.

GROSSMONT CONFERENCES

Representatives from the Grossmont faculty will visit the Lemon Grove Junior High School, where interviews with the parents of the eighth grade students are scheduled, for today and tomorrow (Thursday and Friday). ### TURKEY DINNER

Lemon Grove Post 2082 V.F.W. will serve another Turkey dinner Sunday from 2 to 6 p. m. Same prices will prevail. The Post wishes to thank all who made its last dinner a success and hopes to see them again on Sunday.

CUB SCOUTERS TO MEET

A Cub Scout committee meeting will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Cubmaster Harry Detrich, 1647 Bakersfield.

Plan Merchants Division of C of C

At a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce offices last Friday evening it was proposed that a retail Merchants Division of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce be formed.

President John Hill of the Chamber appointed Roy Lane as temporary chairman of the proposed group.

Mr. Lane is calling a meeting for 7:30 tomorrow (Friday) evening at the Chamber of Commerce, to which every retail merchant in Lemon Grove is invited.

The idea of the Merchants Division is that the merchants have problems of their own, which should be handled by themselves, and by forming this group within the Chamber of Commerce, many things can be accomplished which are now left undone.

Easter Bunny Contest Plans

Details for the fourth Easter Bunny contest are shaping up fast according to E. A. Mouilleseaux, 7921 Mt. Vernon who originated the idea before Easter in 1948.

The party will be held in the Grove Theatre through the courtesy of John Van Gilse, who last year assisted in playing host to over 900 children.

The sponsor raises rabbits and besides giving a large number of them away, Mr. Mouilleseaux has received contributions of money and other gifts to make this the biggest party ever.

Registration cards may be secured at any of the Lemon Grove stores, and each child is supposed to deposit one card in just one of the receptacles in the stores. Gaily decorated boxes are being prepared by the Art Department at Lemon Grove School.

Watch next week's Review for further details of the theatre program and the prizes.

Local Library Third in County

Due to the growth of patronage of Lemon Grove Branch of San Diego County Library, a library aid is needed to give more time to child patrons.

Applicants must file for civil service examination by March 5. With annual circulation of over 52,000 books, the local library is third largest in the county. There has been a gain of 20,000 in the last four years.

Branch libraries were opened this week in Spring Valley at 3814 Troy and in the B and D Workshop in Santee.

Red Cross Drive Opens This Week

This week marks the start of the annual Red Cross drive for funds. Vince Ridge, campaign chairman, states that if the Red Cross is to meet its San Diego County goal of $417,427, every family in every community of the county must give half again as much as it did last year.

Ridge said more is at stake than ever before. He cited the huge Red Cross program of services to the Armed Forces which, he said, accounts for more than half of the money spent here.

He said other programs that must be supported from the funds raised by the Red Cross this year are the county's disaster preparedness training program in First Aid and Home Nursing, the blood program for American wounded overseas, the Canteen Service which has sent Canteen workers to embarkation piers during every major troop embarkation for Korea, and the extensive First Aid service given by the local Red Cross to Continued on Page 8

Final Letter From Howard Baker Tells of Visit to Pompeii

Editor's note: As Mr. Baker returned to Lemon Grove this week, this letter will be the last of his most interesting descriptions of a trip around the world. The Review editors join the readers in thanks to Mr. Baker for sharing his trip with them.

Dear friends: We left Egypt early in the morning of January 31. After a pleasant voyage across the Mediterranean Sea, we passed through the Strait of Messina between Sicily and Italy on the afternoon of February 2, with the volcano of Mt. Etna and the city of Messina on the west and Reggio on the east.

The hills and valleys were covered with olive groves and vineyards. Just after dark we passed the volcano Stromboli, rising abruptly from the ocean. It treated us to a great display of fireworks, throwing up great

Form New Helix Hi School PTA

The problems of a Junior-Senior Prom will headline the next open discussion at Grossmont Parent Teacher Association meeting Thursday, March 8 at 7:30 p. m. in Grossmont cafeteria. Led by Supt. Lewis F. Smith, as moderator, the points to be reasoned are of prime importance to parents and students alike faced with expenses of dress, non-dancers, transportation, post-prom parties, where, how long, what kind, chaperonage, etc.

The new Helix High School P. T. A. will be organized the same evening at 7 p. m. in the music room among parents of students to attend that school. It is urgent for as many teachers and parents to attend this as possible. Other matters to come before the Grossmont P.T.A. will be annual election and installation of officers following report of the nominating committee: Mmes. George Wessels, chairman, Harold Karna and Miss Mae Jenkins.

The Junior-Senior prom debate will include debate of other extra-curricular activities and possibility that students are being barred from participation due to excessive expense. Prom committees from last year and this year will be present to assist.

A social hour following will be in charge of Mmes. W. P. Thomas, Rolando; P. E. Gall, Vista La Mesa; and Geo. Jones, La Mesa Intermediate.

Local Leaders Hear Capt. Pitts on Atomic Bomb

Rev. Morris Mulkey, Howard Stiner, and Supt. B. Netzel attended a meeting at Puppet Theatre in Balboa Park Tuesday evening where they were privileged to hear an address by Captain Pitts of the 11th Naval District. Representatives of service clubs from the entire county heard this interesting lecture on radiological defense, a concise discussion about radioactivity as a result of atomic bombing.

Captain Pitt was sponsored by the Service Clubs' Presidents' Council, which is establishing a speakers' bureau of service club representatives. The bureau will be made up of those men and women best qualified and best trained to speak on all types of disaster control, especially atomic defense. The clubs realize that too much misinformation concerning the atom bomb is being given to the public, and that there is definite need for well-informed speakers to educate people on the true dangers we may face.

The Lemon Grove representatives will soon receive copies of the pamphlet being prepared by the president's Council as a result of Tuesday night's meeting. With this guide, the community will soon have available a list of those speakers available for intelligent discussion on civilian defense in case of atomic attack.

Card Party Nets Play Fund $105

The card party held by the Monterey Heights Parent-Teacher Association last Friday evening was a success in that $105 was received to further plans for a summer recreation program. Since the minimum amount needed for a well planned program is $150, more money must be raised between now and the end of the school term.

Thanks are due Mrs. T. R. Corle who helped to sell 90 tickets; to Mrs. J. R. Smith and all her room mothers; to Mrs. Chester Hobbs and Mrs. Gordon Smith for the refreshments; to Mrs. Sam Hagen, Mrs. Jack Griggs, Mrs. Tom Mitchell and Mrs. Harold Whilden for the prizes and decorations; to Mrs. J. A. Jones and Mrs. Leonard Cafferata and the Girl Scouts for excellent child care and to all others whose co-operation made the party a success.

San Miguel is Name of New Star Chapter

Another step forward in the social life of Lemon Grove is the organization of San Miguel Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, which is now well under way.

This action is due to the efforts of San Miguel Club, membership of which consisted of Eastern Star members of Lemon Grove, Encanto and contiguous territory.

Under the direction of Mrs. Fred Jensen, vice president of the club, an organization meeting was held in the V.F.W. Hall Tuesday evening with about 80 members present.

Mrs. Perna H. Braley, 2283 Berry St., was given the honor of being the first Worthy Matron. Mrs. Braley had served as secretary of the San Miguel Club and is well fitted for the leadership and responsibilities of directing a new Chapter.

Other officers chosen were: Tom Parsons, worthy patron; Mrs. Callie Trumbell, of Encanto, associate matron; Ernest Charbonneau, of El Cajon, associate patron; Mrs. Stephen Westover, secretary; Mrs. Hannah Abbott, treasurer; Mrs. Ernest Charbonneau, conductress; Mrs. James Bennett, associate conductress; Mrs. Elizabeth Parsons, chaplain; Mrs. Alma Miller, of La Mesa, organist; Mrs. David Fulton, warder; Mrs. George Lipp, marshal; Mrs. L. ### Students Hear Man from Scotland Yd.

Col. Ray Newing, ex-Chief Inspector of Scotland Yard, London, spoke to the 7-1 and 7-2 classes on Tuesday in Room 24 at the Lemon Grove School. Col. Newing, who has been visiting with J. M. Pearce, local real estate man, while touring the U. S., is an authority on English police activity because of his long association with Scotland Yard. He gave the students a history of the London police, and also cited some exciting cases for them. After his discussion, he willingly answered questions of the group.

The classes of Mrs. Whalen and Mrs. Darroch were very fortunate to secure Col. Newing as a speaker for their social studies classes, since England is one of the European countries to be studied this semester.

Labor Leaders Angry

FIVE of the nation's top labor spokesmen, led by Phil Murray of the CIO, have had it hot and heavy with Defense Mobilization Secretary Charles E. Wilson over the government's manpower program.

The ill feeling which flared between them looked like a curtain-raiser for more trouble on the labor front, and raised one of the most difficult problems of any defense or war program.

Purpose of the labor leaders' call on Wilson was to keep the nation's civilian manpower program under the labor department. This has been the subject of a bitter backstage battle for some time, with Wilson and Gen. Lucius Clay wanting to take manpower away from Secretary of Labor Tobin and Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg, and with the latter two threatening to resign if the labor problem is taken out of their hands.

Labor leaders have good reason to fear General Clay and any manpower commission which he organized. They recall that during the recent war and before he went to Germany as military governor, Clay demanded of FDR that there be compulsory allocation of labor under a labor draft.

That was one reason why the five leaders went to see mobilization czar Charlie Wilson last week to try to keep civilian manpower under the labor department. They got nowhere. Wilson's attitude during the bitter meeting was "I'm running things—we'll do it my way."

He didn't put it quite so strong, but he didn't put it quite so strong.

Wilson didn't have to. On the way to the meeting the labor group had read a news story telling of Wilson's and General Clay's plan to set up their own manpower commission under civil service commissioner Arthur Flemming—with Clay, however, as the real boss. Wilson did not deny the story. Nor did he seem concerned when the labor leaders reminded him that he was setting up a board to control labor without consulting labor.

The President's Finances

WHAT PERCENTAGE of each dollar we earn during the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1951, does the President ask congress to take away from us as federal taxes to pay for rearmament and the expenses of the government? That is an important question to each American.

The President asks for a tax that will produce a total of $71 billion. That is the highest total amount the nation has ever been asked to pay, but the President estimates that the total earnings of Americans for the next fiscal year will be not less than $240 billion, and of that amount we will pay out of each dollar we earn 25.9 cents. As a tax, that is mild compared with what we were charged in 1945, when the government took 52.42 out of each of our earned dollars, and at that time we were a long way from paying the war cost of that year, and added more than 70 billions to our national debt.

Now the President is insisting that we pay the cost of rearmament as we go, and not increase the national indebtedness, and he figures a tax of 25.9, or less than 30 cents out of each earned dollar will accomplish that result.

What the total may be depends entirely on the total of the national income, the earnings of Americans as individuals, corporations, stockholders or bond holders, farmers. If the President is right in his estimate of a national income of $240 billion that will produce the $71 billion he says must be raised, it all depends on what we earn collectively.

The President presented to congress a statement of what percentage of each earned dollar had been paid to the government as taxes in other years: In 1939 we paid as taxes 12.8 cents out of each earned dollar; in 1945 it was 52.42; in 1948 it was 16; in 1949, 17.9; in 1950, 18.3; in 1951, 18.7.

Except for the year 1949, the tax rate on each earned dollar has not fluctuated as radically as we have thought, but the number of dollars we have earned, the total of the national annual income has fluctuated greatly if the President's figures are correct, and his figure for the next fiscal year is estimated at the high point of $240 billion. Let us hope we make it, and if we do we can easily afford to pay the 25.9 out of each of those dollars, keep the nation out of the red, and still pay the rearmament bills.

The President gave to congress some idea as to who would pay the additional taxes. He would collect 35 per cent of it from individuals, that is, from workers, farmers, professional people and merchants, twenty-seven per cent from corporations, 11 per cent from additional excise taxes, and four per cent from customs. He did not say, but he undoubtedly knows, that the 27 per cent collected from corporations, will be paid by the customers. The corporations will add that 27 per cent to the price of their products, and the purchaser of their products will do the paying.

The President also offered a chart showing for what he proposed to spend the $71,000,000,000 (tax dollars) he was demanding. Fifty-eight cents of each dollar would go to rearmament; 17 cents to the normal expense of the government; 10 cents to meet our international obligations; eight cents for interest on our national debt; seven cents to the veterans administration.

It can all work out that way, provided congress passes the needed tax legislation and the President's advisers are sufficiently good at their economics to not overestimate the national income for the year beginning next July 1. If that estimated national income is more dollars than we Americans receive, the President will not have as many dollars to spend as he wants.

The President has intimated that in addition to the $71 billion he wants for next year, he may ask congress for another $2,700,000,000 with which to balance the expenditures for this year, so as not to have to add that to the national debt. If those economists have over-estimated the amount of our annual earnings, we may have another tax increase in 1952.

The above is the tax picture the President painted.

When Red Russia starts marching, the nations of western Europe will start wailing for help.

The Labor government of England is more interested in orders from Red China than in American financial aid or than in principles.

TO TEACH REDS . . . Philadelphia-born Dr. Margaret Schlauch, 52, New York University English instructor, has notified the school that she is resigning to join the faculty of the University of Warsaw in Communist Poland.

Durocher and His Giants

IT WOULD START a breezy argument if the Giants, training at St. Petersburg this spring, should win the National League pennant. Especially if at the same time the Yankees, training in Arizona and California, should fail to win the American League flag.

The sunny state of Florida would have something to say about a situation of this sort. And the far western rebuttal would be packed with alibis.

Whatever happens, Leo Durocher expects to win the National League pennant, with anything like an even break from that cockeyed wench known as Dame Fortune.

"No one can say what will happen to any one club from the draft," Leo says. "But we haven't many young rookies. Most of our squad have been around for some time and we certainly shouldn't be hit any harder than anyone else."

"Up to June, 1950, the Giants have had less than their share of good pitching. At least we'll say our pitching has been spotty. We were already out of the race last season when we got Jim Hearn from the Cardinals and Sal Maglie began to win. I know from that spot on we played the best ball in the league."

For the first time, starting this spring at St. Petersburg, we have the ball club I've been hoping to get. That means first-class pitching—with the probability of six good starting pitchers. We have a fine infield, especially strong around second with Stanky and Dark. We have a high-grade outfield and we have our share of power. We can get runs.

"The Dodgers will be good again this new season and so will the Phillies. The Phillies will miss Curt Simmons more than a little bit. Simmons would have been ready for a big year. Boston will be good again. Losing practically none of their veterans, the Cardinals will be dangerous for a while at least. But I like the Giants, I like them better each week as the season draws closer. The club is well rounded, as well rounded as the Dodgers, and I'd rather have our pitching. Hearn, Maglie and Jansen outmatch any three in the league on any single club."

Condition and Hustling

You can rate one thing about Leo Durocher—there is no manager in baseball who handles his team better on the field. And there is no manager who works harder for condition and the old hustling act. I've seen Leo work many a team into a froth. He is a great believer in condition and just as great a believer in hustling all the way through.

No team that keeps hustling will be outclassed. I never thought the Giants of the last few years had any sort of chance to run 1-2-3. But it's different this season—or it will be different when Hearn, Maglie, Jansen, Kennedy, etc., get their working arms ready for the long grind. You can use up a lot of pitching between April and October and this time the Giants have it in greater abundance than any other National League club.

Last winter at this date, Durocher was confident that his improved defense, especially at second and short, would take care of his pitching troubles. But it wasn't until Hearn and Maglie got busy winning games that his shaky pitching problem was solved.

It has been a long, long time since the Giants had any intimate association with a National League pennant. In the past 10 years the Dodgers and Cardinals have dominated the older league and when any outside teams broke into the pennant business they were the Braves and the Phillies—not the Giants.

It can be different this year. Horace Stinebaugh has collected the best team he has known since Bill Terry's day. He and Durocher have a bunch of ballplayers who can hustle their way into first place with any needed breaks. They still have the Dodgers, Phillies and Braves to shove aside, but this is no impossible job. At least Durocher feels he has the team he has wanted for some time.

Concerning the Customers

"Baseball," said one of the best-known club owners in the game, "has one bad weakness. It has never paid enough attention to the care and comfort of the customer or the fan. Most of the stands are out of date. Most of them are dirty. The seats are too narrow and uncomfortable. There are many, many thousands of women fans in this country but they get little consideration. Even racing is more thoughtful in this respect."

For the first time, starting this spring at St. Petersburg, we have the ball club I've been hoping to get. That means first-class pitching—with the probability of six good starting pitchers. We have a fine infield, especially strong around second with Stanky and Dark. We have a high-grade outfield and we have our share of power. We can get runs.

"The Dodgers will be good again this new season and so will the Phillies. The Phillies will miss Curt Simmons more than a little bit. Simmons would have been ready for a big year. Boston will be good again. Losing practically none of their veterans, the Cardinals will be dangerous for a while at least. But I like the Giants, I like them better each week as the season draws closer. The club is well rounded, as well rounded as the Dodgers, and I'd rather have our pitching. Hearn, Maglie and Jansen outmatch any three in the league on any single club."

Condition and Hustling

You can rate one thing about Leo Durocher—there is no manager in baseball who handles his team better on the field. And there is no manager who works harder for condition and the old hustling act. I've seen Leo work many a team into a froth. He is a great believer in condition and just as great a believer in hustling all the way through.

No team that keeps hustling will be outclassed. I never thought the Giants of the last few years had any sort of chance to run 1-2-3. But it's different this season—or it will be different when Hearn, Maglie, Jansen, Kennedy, etc., get their working arms ready for the long grind. You can use up a lot of pitching between April and October and this time the Giants have it in greater abundance than any other National League club.

Last winter at this date, Durocher was confident that his improved defense, especially at second and short, would take care of his pitching troubles. But it wasn't until Hearn and Maglie got busy winning games that his shaky pitching problem was solved.

It has been a long, long time since the Giants had any intimate association with a National League pennant. In the past 10 years the Dodgers and Cardinals have dominated the older league and when any outside teams broke into the pennant business they were the Braves and the Phillies—not the Giants.

It can be different this year. Horace Stinebaugh has collected the best team he has known since Bill Terry's day. He and Durocher have a bunch of ballplayers who can hustle their way into first place with any needed breaks. They still have the Dodgers, Phillies and Braves to shove aside, but this is no impossible job. At least Durocher feels he has the team he has wanted for some time.

Concerning the Customers

"Baseball," said one of the best-known club owners in the game, "has one bad weakness. It has never paid enough attention to the care and comfort of the customer or the fan. Most of the stands are out of date. Most of them are dirty. The seats are too narrow and uncomfortable. There are many, many thousands of women fans in this country but they get little consideration. Even racing is more thoughtful in this respect."

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

ON MARCH 4 "Theatre Guild on the Air" plans to do a full hour-and-a-half hour broadcast of "Hamlet," which will certainly be heard by the largest single audience that has ever heard it since Shakespeare wrote the play centuries ago. It will come from the stage of the Belasco Theatre in New York and will be heard over the full NBC network. Stars will be Dorothy McGuire of the movies and Pamela Brown and John Gielgud of the theatre, both now appearing in one of the season's hits, "The Lady's Not for Burning."

"Hamlet" was modernized for the war, and the broadcast will follow along that line.

Burt Ives will launch a series of 26 programs for the state department's Voice of America. Accompanying him will be an instrumental group. Whatever the countries behind the iron curtain will think of "The Blue-Tailed Fly!"

Irene Vernon, whose latest picture is "Sound of Fury" (a Robert Stillman production for United Artists), is one of the four judges who will hand out 15 savings bonds to the winners of the Num-Zit baby beauty contest. It's open to infants from 6 1/2 months to 2 1/2 years old, from March 1 to June 1. Entry blanks available at all drugstores.

Robert Stack, star of Republic's "Bullfighter and the Lady," received the General Rose Memorial Award for this year. It is given by the third armored division to war veterans in the entertainment world for outstanding work.

Two tapotch woman wrestlers have been signed as technical advisers for a wrestling match between Jane Wyman and Alexis Smith in "Here Comes the Groom". One of them, Clara Mortensen, is world lightweight champion.

Other technical advisers—four Los Angeles high school students, picked by members of the Los Angeles school board, who sat in on story conferences for "Filmakers' On the Loose". They passed on the teen-age language, and an popular colors of hot rods, phosphorescent sex, beanie caps and other such fads. Producer Collier Young was bent on making the film realistic.

Since Columbia's "The Flying Missile" opened around the country Glenn Ford's fan mail rating has risen 70 per cent—that always happens when he makes a picture in uniform. Notice the scene where he lies in a bunk on a submarine, with pin-up girls plastered all over the bulkhead; the camera really lingers on the face of Eleanor Powell, who is Mrs. Ford.

Bette Davis is responsible for two of the actresses in her new "Payment on Demand". One is Frances Dee, who hadn't made a picture since 1948; Bette chose her. The other is Barbara Sherry, Bette's three-year-old daughter.

The four fur coats Judy Holiday wears in the movie version of "Born Yesterday" are worth $46,000—the entire cost of producing the stage version of the comedy was about $50,000. Incidentally, Judy's hit performances on the NBC "Big Show" may be the prelude to her having a radio show of her own—always provided that she cares to have one.

Ruth Roman has finally received the wedding ring designed by her husband, Mortimer Hall. It failed to arrive in time for their wedding, in Las Vegas, so she wore the one belonging to her stand-in, the matron of honor.

Claudette Colbert and Mary Benny divorce four times around the block, trying to find a place to park Jack's car before going into the theatre to see Stanley Kramer's "Cyrano de Bergerac". Then the manager came out and offered to park it for them. It had a drive unfamiliar to him; after stalling the car three times he had to summon Mary to park the car herself.

Times have changed; movie companies not only ignore television, they pick stars from it. Paramount decided to make "Aaron Slick from Puddin' Creek" and wanted a "new face" to play the lead. Alan Young had appeared in supporting roles at 20th Century-Fox a couple of years ago, but it was his hilarious performances on television that sold him to Paramount executives.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Dane Clark now knows how strip-teasers work; for one scene of "Never Trust a Gambler", including rehearsals, he had to put on and take off a trench coat exactly 147 times.

The Crosby-like "Road to Paris" became "Road to Hollywood", now has been changed to "Road to Bali". Now it's rumored that Elizabeth Taylor would like to re-kindle an old romance with a wealthy ex-boyfriend down in Florida.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF CONGRESS

The furious argument over Congress' right to authorize the sending of troops to Europe furnished a timely reminder of how many rights Congress has abdicated over the past two decades. The Founding Fathers never intended Congress to be the rubber-stamp it got into the habit of being during the Depression days. The rights and responsibilities of Congress are clearly defined in the Constitution, and the authority to declare war is one of them.

Obviously, delegating blanket authority to the President to deploy American troops about the world is tantamount to delegating authority to plunge the nation in war. Nor does prior Congressional approval of the Atlantic Pact have any bearing on the matter, for the record shows that the Pact was approved only after the direct assurances of Secretary of State Acheson that no pledge to send troops to Europe was involved.

The advisability or inadvisability of sending a limited or unlimited number of American troops abroad in peacetime are the proper decisions of Congress to reach. If democracy is to continue, that body of National government closest to the people cannot shirk its responsibilities.

Political Parade

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

If boys will be boys, politicians will be politicians—and for pure, unadulterated power politics, the current reapportionment row is proving the adage.

The ruction hinges on congressional and legislative reapportionment. Every ten years, following the national census, a reshuffle is made on a population basis. Congressionally, those States gaining population are awarded new Congressmen. The States showing a population decline lose Congressmen. On the legislative front in California, the same is true as regards the State's Assembly districts.

For example, growing California will have seven new Congressmen when reapportionment is complete. Pennsylvania which has slipped a bit populationwise will lose three.

So is everybody happy in California? Not by a long shot! The Democrats literally are tearing the hair out of the Donkey's tail.

At this point politics—power politics—come into play. And while the Democrats are in power nationally, the Republicans are in the saddle in California. The Republican dominated Legislature, under the State Constitution, which governs this procedure, is the body that decides the exact local of each new Congressional and Assembly District.

The law doesn't allow much leeway for political monkey-shines, but then it doesn't have to. While each Assembly District and Congressional District by rights is to include a roughly comparable number of people, it's all in how the district is divided.

Take the case of San Francisco Congressman Frank Havenner. Mr. Havenner comes from a district with a hard Democratic core. As presently constituted, Mr. Havenner probably could continue being re-elected from now till the cows come home if he wished. But from the anguish with the man is putting up, it's pretty safe to assume he suspects there'll be some changes made. What Mr. Havenner seems to suspect is not that his district will have any fewer people, but that in the redistricting, it's going to take in a lot more Republicans and a heap fewer Democrats than presently.

Then take the matter of Assembly Districts. Southern California, particularly Los Angeles, is going to get more Assemblymen, probably three more, due to its population growth. San Francisco, with a fairly stable population, will lose one Assemblyman for sure and probably two. The good Republicans in Los Angeles, if they can help it, are going to see that all the breaks go to Republicans with the new districts, just as San Francisco Republicans, if they can help it, will see that the one or two Assembly seats they lose will be Democratic ones.

The story's the same all over the State, throughout the valley counties, the coastal counties, the mountain counties. It's politics—power politics. In this State, the Republicans are calling the shots—if the Democrats had the gun, they'd be firing and the Republicans would be crying "uncle". As for non-partisanship—maybe when it comes to cross-filing, but with reapportionment? uh uh!

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORRIS

Last year, a Commission on Water Resources was appointed by the President. It toured the country, seeking opinions and asking advice of farmers, labor groups, State officials, conservationists and others on the formulation of a national policy for development of water resources.

Here in California, the State's Department of Public Works took the Commission's request seriously. In a comprehensive, carefully thought-out 104 page report, the Department submitted California's official views. Those views, in the main, opposed Federal plans which usurp State and local water rights and were particularly critical of the TVA-type of regional authority over multi-purpose, Federal river developments.

The President's Commission, however, apparently didn't take California's views too seriously. The Commission's recent, well-publicized report, on which much future proposed legislation will be based, set forth as desirable policy that:

"Full development of the Nation's under-developed water power resources, as an integral part of comprehensive basin programs, should be considered a major Federal responsibility, to be exercised in such a way as to assure ample supplies of hydroelectric energy well in advance of expanding regional and national needs."

That policy statement is the direct opposite of the advice sought from the State of California. And the views of most State bodies, groups and individuals who appeared before the Commission appear likewise to have been ignored.

For example, the Commission's report favors authorization for "federal agencies to build transmission facilities, giving preference in power sales to public and cooperative bodies and fostering low rates for residential and rural consumption."

But here is what Joseph A. Fisher, president of the CIO Utility Workers of America, had to say on the subject at one of the Commission's hearings:

"We do not think it is the prerogative of the U. S. government or a State or a municipality to go into competition with the private enterprise system under which America has grown to be the great country that it is. We think that the electric utility companies operating in the area should be given an opportunity to distribute and build the transmission lines for the distribution of electric energy."

And the Edison Electric Institute testified: "Power from federal projects should be sold without discrimination. It is unfair and unsound to discriminate against citizens sold by tax-paying, investor-owned utilities through subsidizing their neighbors or business competitors with tax-exempt public power."

The Water Resources Commission must have run up some impressive expense accounts traveling about the country listening to what the people had to say. Then, apparently, they went back to Washington and listened to themselves.

Proctor Jones, Woodside Young Republican—"I want to be of public service—whether it is dog catcher of San Mateo or President of the United States."

India Edwards, Demo, Nat'l Committee woman, in Calif.—"Women have to grow up in their thinking and realize that they must pay for the chance to have peace."

IF YOUR DOG Has Bad Habits

It's easy for a farm dog to develop bad habits. It's almost as easy for you to break them. Here are some pointers on how you can help convince your dog himself that he shouldn't jump up on people or chase cars. The instructions are from the informative Purina Farm Dog Book on how to care for and train the farm dog.

Jumping Up On People

Friendliness or affection may cause your dog to jump all over visitors and members of your family—to the considerable detriment of their clothing. Stop this habit in puppyhood! Slap the over-enthusiastic pup slightly with a hankiechief. If he still persists, raise your knee and bump him on the chest. Or step lightly on the toes of his rear feet. Always use the command "No" in an angry tone, while correcting.

Chasing Cars

Many a good dog has lost its life through this habit. It is especially frequent with dogs with herding instinct. Lead your dog to your standing car, then have somebody sitting inside pour a bucket of water over him; repeat this procedure several times.

Then have your helper drive the car slowly along a side road while you walk towards it with the dog on leash. When you meet the car have the driver pour another bucket of water over the dog.

You might get a little wet during the treatment, but it is probably worth it if it teaches him to respect cars.

National 4-H Week Set

March 3 to 11 has been set aside nationally as 4-H Club Week. San Diego County 4-H Club members will join the nearly 2,000,000 rural young people all over the United States in highlighting their activities during the week.

San Diego County has 450 members actively enrolled in 4-H Club work this year, and 80 local volunteer leaders. The 4-H Clubs are under the guidance of the Agricultural Extension Service, which trains the local leaders. However, the club members elect their own officers and help plan their own programs.

Washday Shock

Don't let washday shock you, home advisor, Mrs. Delphine D. Wilson, warns homemakers. She recommends a rubber mat or dry boards to stand on if the washing machine is on a dirt or cement floor. Or a pair of rubber overshoes will do, provided they are in good condition.

Washing machines are usually next to a water faucet or a sink. To be extra safe, Delphine Wilson recommends staying away from the machine when your hands are on the faucet or in the sink. If there is a break in the insulation, or some other defect in the machine, the electric current may jump the frame. Any part of the body in contact with the machine may become the conductor for the misplaced current.

The home advisor also repeats a warning about using care with a wringer. Long sleeves or dangling clothing can be easily gobbled up by the rollers. If the clothes start to wrap themselves around the wringer roll, shut off the machine and open the release bar to remove the clothing. Another safety rule with washing machines is to inspect clothing for pins, needles, or broken buttons that might mean injuries in handling the clothes while they are in the machine.

Extension Service believe that abundant production of food and fiber will be necessary in this emergency even as it has been in other emergencies. During the late war, farmers demonstrated that they could meet ever-increasing goals of production. We know they stand ready to meet any demands of the current emergency and so we have geared the program of the Extension Service to help them achieve increased and more efficient production.

"If the military program should drag on for fifteen or twenty years, we shall need an abundance of courage. We have demonstrated that this nation has an abundance of courage for the short run. Our people must be well fed if they are to withstand the rigors of a long-time military effort.

"Our 4-H program fits naturally into this effort. We believe also that the purchasing power of the dollar will continue to be reduced. People will learn of individual necessity to adjust their living to these conditions. Our home economics program has been dealing with these problems. We are now giving greater emphasis to this work.

"With agriculture, materials will be short, labor scarce and costs high.

"We believe that Extension can contribute most by intensifying its present program."

Lemon Grove School News

Lemon Grove School

Supt. B. L. Netzeley announced this week that schools in the Lemon Grove School District will be closed next Monday, the date of the Spring-Day Institute for all county teachers and administrators.

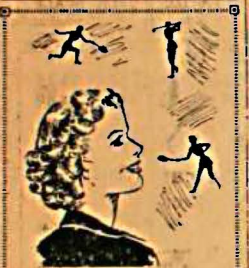

More than 1600 educators are expected to attend the sessions at Conference Hall, Balboa Park, where Pierre van Paassen, noted author, correspondent, and political analyst, is scheduled as chief guest speaker.

The new county superintendent of schools, Dr. Cecil Hardisty, will act as chairman of the morning activities. Other talks will be given by Lewis F. Smith, administrators' association president and principal of Grossmont High School, W. P. Wewer, county teachers' association president, and Mrs. E. T. Walker, president of the California P. T. A.

In the afternoon, four parties will visit many business houses and civic institutions in the San Diego vicinity. These tours proved so popular with teachers at the Fall-Day Institute in September that the opportunity to visit leading industries and establishments is once again offered by the Institute committee.

Mr. Solleder emphasized the role to be played by our schools, and explained the steps that are being taken in classes to educate the children for any emergencies.

Elementary Citizenship Club Members Honored

Students of the Citizenship Club of the Lemon Grove Elementary School who maintained high standards during the first two report card periods were honored by being permitted to attend a winner's tour at Presidio Park last Friday. About 50 students left school at 10 a. m., and, despite the weather, which caused everyone to run for shelter several times, the youngsters enjoyed exploring the many hills and valleys at the Park. The boys and girls participated in many games, had a delicious weiner roast with all the trimmings, and returned to the school with Mrs. Schmidt, bus driver, in the afternoon. Bernard Grossman, council advisor, and Mrs. Eve'n Lauritzen, principal, accompanied the students. Everyone has decided to continue with the excellent work in citizenship in order to be eligible for future outings of the club.

Friendship Hall, decorated with patriotic red, white, and blue streamers, was the setting for the "Hatchet Hop," Lemon Grove Junior High School Student Council dance, last Wednesday evening. Over 200 students from the seventh and eighth grades enjoyed the dancing from 7:00 to 10:00 p. m.

Talented students furnished entertainment during the evening's intermission. Janice and Nancy Sunbury gave an exhibition of acrobatic dancing. Jack Sanders played a saxophone solo. Gail Stringer tap danced. Janice Jowett, Peggy Lester, and Beryl Scott sang popular songs, and the double trio of the Girl's Glee Club was featured.

In the waltz contest, Marilyn Bunch and Paul Beighle won first prize, Loy Johnson and Dan O'Daniel, second, and Judy Nelson and Tommy Simmons won third prize. Dancing for the evening was under the direction of Harry Butler and J. F. Moore.

The guest list included Supt. and Mrs. B. L. Netzeley, S. K. Solleder, Margaret L. Darroch, Evelyn Whalen, Elizabeth Robbins, Mrs. H. Butler, Dr. and Mrs. W. Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Iron, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Westfall, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Quist, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Clark, Mrs. Karen Torgersen, Mrs. D. C. Tucker, Mrs. Leota Bolander, Mrs. R. Cornelius, Dean Hermon, Carl Chessar, Arnold Westphal, Ted Courtney, and John A. Smith.

First Aid Class to be Split

Because of the large first aid class at Vista La Mesa on Wednesday evening, the class will be divided, with half of the enrolled adults joining the Monday evening class. This class will meet at the regular time, 7:00 to 10:00 p. m. with Mr. Beals, instructor.

Tr. Ms. Elects New Council Officers

Following a rally on the athletic field at the Lemon Grove School, where candidates for office spoke to students of the seventh and eighth grades, ballots were cast on Friday for new officers for the Junior High Student Council officers. Sally Thibault was elected as president; Claudette Keyser, vice president; Nancy Sunbury, secretary, and Loy Johnson, treasurer. Room representatives will now

"America" at the conclusion of the program. New officers for the sixth grade class, taught by Mrs. Hazel Schwalm are: LeRoy Kerl, president; Leon Sowers, vice president; Fred Sanders, secretary.

High School News

This is the first in a series of articles on Grossmont Union High School's students who have lived abroad.

One of Grossmont Union High School's most interesting students is Martha Hahn. This 15 year old Grossmont was born in Bridgeport, Conn., and when she was nine months old the family moved to Germany, the former home of her parents. Martha lived in Germany until 1946, when the family again returned to the United States.

In Germany, the family moved around a great deal during the war. Martha was often sent to live on a farm, because of the frequent air raids. During an air raid they went into a cellar 50 feet under ground from one to three hours.

When the war was over, the Americans came into all of the German towns. Martha's father could speak English, and they were given a lot of candy and gum.

After the war, because Martha and her father were American citizens, they decided to come to America. They applied for passports in Munchen and traveled in cattle cars to Bremen, where they spent four weeks before they embarked on a troop transport. After nine days on the Atlantic Ocean they landed in New York where Martha's aunt lived. The Statue of Liberty impressed the Europeans on the transport very much. Two weeks later they came to San Diego by bus.

The first type of amusement that Martha saw was Grossmont's Christmas pageant. She said, "I didn't understand a word of English, but it was one of the most wonderful and unforgettable things I have ever seen."

Martha wants to be a dress designer and she would like to travel. Her hobbies include collecting various styles of paper gowns for paper dolls, and swimming.

Martha thinks America is wonderful because of its freedom and opportunities.

The Grossmont Adult Education Department offers the first air class in La Mesa, meeting every Monday and Tuesday from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. at La Mesa Intermediate School. The instructor is Mr. Heinkel.

The Grossmont Union High School Chapter of the California Scholarship Federation has listed the following people as tentative members of the organization. Grade 12 — Shirley Chase, Mary Clark, Leroy Cooper, Gerry Dearmin, Mark Echeverri, Hoyt Gressor, Peggy Henry, Kenneth Hightill, Joanne Hoss, John Jensen, Velma Jay Kanady, Barbara Lemke, Jeannine Madison, Ronald McGuire, Elaine Mihalka, Elizabeth Morse, Betty Richardson, Ethelyn Skaggs, Patricia Sutton.

One of the clubs open to students with above average grades is the Scholarship Federation. Admission into this honor society

Well Fed Rabbits

To get the maximum returns from rabbits they must be fed a well-balanced ration that is palatable and will adequately supply their nutritional requirements for protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals. They should also have free access to fresh water.

More than 20 years ago, the Ralston Purina Company established a rabbit unit at Research Farm for the purpose of determining the nutritional requirements and the maximum reproduction of domestic rabbits raised for commercial uses.

During this period more than 10,000 rabbits have been used experimentally for feeding tests. Records have been kept on the amount of feed consumed by the different lots of rabbits, the number of litters and young produced per doe, and of the gain in weights of the young at various stages.

As a result of these experiments, it was found a prepared chow, or complete ration, should be fed a resting doe in quantities of 4 to 6 ounces per day, and from 6 to 8 during gestation. While nursing a litter until it is three weeks old, the ration per doe should be 8 to 16 ounces daily and raised to 1 to 2 pounds daily when the doe and her litter of 7 or 8 is between 3 and 6 weeks old. Growing rabbits, 6 weeks and older which have been weaned should have a daily ration of 4 to 6 ounces.

The amount of feed required to produce one pound of rabbit, live weight, when rabbits were kept to 10 weeks of age, averaging 4.7 pounds, live weight, at the Purina Research Farm, about 3.54 pounds of feed were required to produce one pound of live weight. This included the feed for the doe but not for the replacement or bucks.

The doe's ration is reduced to one-half the day she kindles. From the second to the seventh day, the amount of feed is gradually increased daily. After the first week, chow is kept before the nursing doe and her litter at all times.

During weaning, the doe is fed according to the state of her physical condition. In case a heavy milking doe does not dry up normally, she is given only alfalfa hay and water for two or three days or until the swelling of the mammary glands is reduced, and then given alfalfa hay and 1 to 2 ounces of the chow or one-half to one ounce of checkers supplement until she recovers.

For growing rabbits, it is recommended that the chow be put in self feeders and kept before them at all times.

Falsehood is in a hurry; it may be at any moment detected and punished; truth is calm, serene; its judgment cometh out of the chamber of eternity.—Joseph Parker Little self-denials; little hostilities; little words of sympathy; little nameless acts of kindness; little silent victories over favorite temptations—these are silent threads of gold which, when woven together, gleam out so brightly in the pattern of life that God approves.—Dean Farrar.
